Offer three clear options and most people will pick one.

Give them five confusing ones
and many will pick nothing at all.